Service: Water Hauling

Looking for professional and cost-effective help with managing your fluids and waste transfer projects? SCE Environmental delivers comprehensive solutions for the safe cleanup, transfer and disposal of industrial fluids and waste for leading companies across the Marcellus region.

Water is an essential part of any Marcellus gas drilling operation. Horizontal gas wells require in excess of three million gallons of water for each fracturing event. The frack flowback and produced water must be transported carefully to the appropriate treatment and disposal facilities. SCE Marcellus Shale Environmental Services has the size, scale, expertise and Marcellus experience to haul your water efficiently and safely. Whether hauling produced water to a treatment facility or delivering fresh water to the well site, SCE has everything in place to make sure your water is where it needs to be, when it needs to be there.

The SCE Advantage

Although safe and compliant water hauling becomes the legal responsibility of the hauling company once produced water or frack flowback leaves the gas well's holding system, it is the gas company's responsibility to choose a competent hauling company. By allowing SCE to handle all of your water hauling needs, you can be sure that your water hauling will be handled promptly, safely and efficiently. Our spotless health and safety record should allow you to rest easy knowing that you made the right choice when it comes to handling potentially hazardous or environmentally harmful water and chemicals. Go with the company everybody else calls to clean up their frack water spills, and you'll be able to avoid spills in the first place.

We bring that same attention to detail and high level of quality to every service we perform. Our expertise covers everything from E&S inspections to water testing and analysis to pipeline construction and site restoration. By choosing SCE to perform any of the other services we offer, we can leverage the in-depth site-specific knowledge we gain from performing a variety of services at your well sites.

SCE has been performing oil & gas services in Pennsylvania and New York for 10 years, so you can be sure we know the land, the roads and the business.
